Reward 4

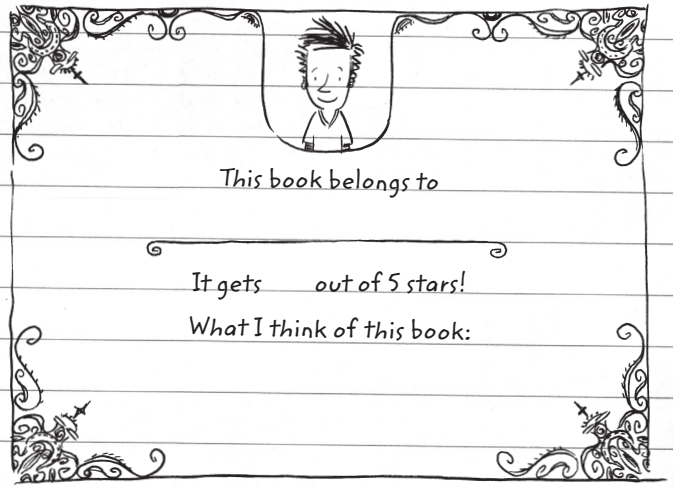
undys book plates

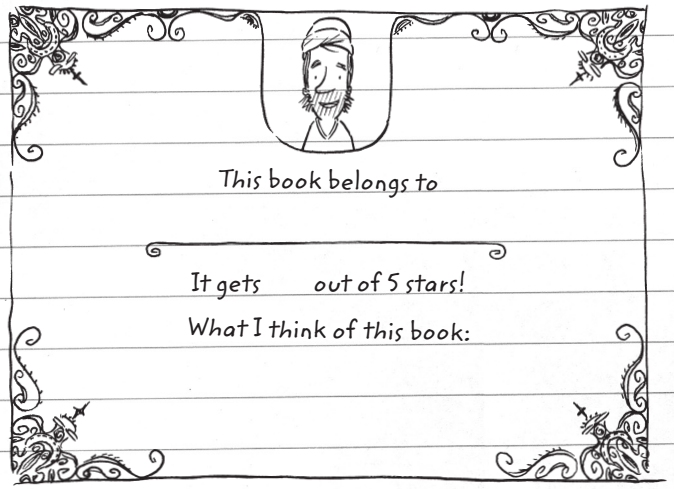
That is it! That is the whole story of our camping trip. Oh, except for the next day, which was full of wet and wild games like swimming, bodysurfing and all of us jumping off a Tarzan rope into the river. But you have got the hang of how it went.

And you have read all the way through another book – right to the end. I hope you feel proud of yourself. You should. Really.

Here is your final reward for this book. It is a collection of four things called bookplates. You can use these to show that you own a book. When you get a new book, you just cut out a bookplate, write your name on it, and glue it inside the front of the book. That way everyone will know that that book is yours.

Then, when you have read the book, you can give it a star rating and write what you thought of it as well.

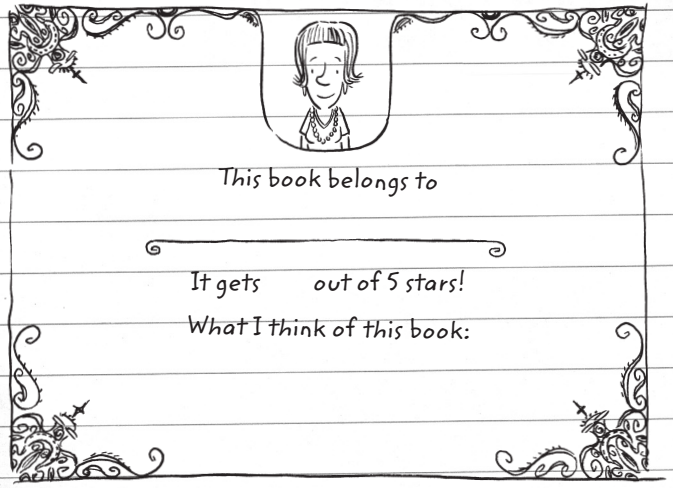




This book belongs to

It gets out of 5 stars!

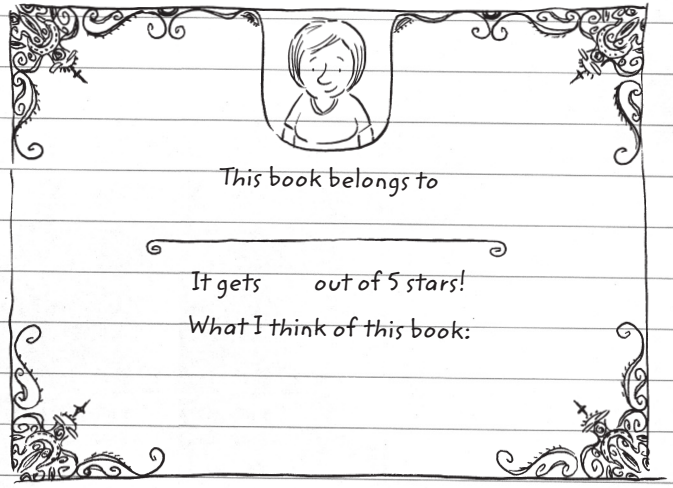
What I think of this book:



This book belongs to

It gets out of 5 stars!

What I think of this book:



This book belongs to

It gets out of 5 stars!

What I think of this book:

And do not forget, you can download these from my friend, Michael Wagner's website. It is at www.michaelwagner.com.au. Or you can make as many photocopies of them as you like! How good is that!